

The 5-Question Product Filter

Choose what to sell in one sitting, not one season

Why This Exists

Most women spend months searching for the perfect idea. The women who launch fastest use a fast filter instead of endless reflection. Here it is.

1. Is someone already paying for this?

Check search interest, existing competitors, and community questions. If yes, demand is real — you're not guessing.

2. Can I deliver it without burning out?

Does this fit your actual energy and skill set, or does it require becoming someone you're not?

3. Can I validate this in 7 days?

If confirming real interest takes longer than a week, the idea may be too broad or too dependent on building trust from scratch.

4. Does this fit a Blue Ocean, not a Red one?

Is this a crowded space where you'd need to shout loudest, or a specific angle with less competition?

5. Would I be excited to build this in 48 hours?

If the honest answer is no, the idea probably isn't right yet — not because it needs more research, but because it needs a different idea.

Your Working Space

My idea:

Answers to all 5 questions:

Picking imperfectly beats not picking at all.

themonifamethod.com/free/winning-combination
© 2026 The Monifa Method